Whole Community Will Celebrate

The program for the Armistice Day celebration in Carmel is practically completed. The day's events will be started at 10 o'clock by a parade of service men and school children, under escort of the band and Eleventh Cavalry, marching down Ocean avenue from San Carlos to Monte Verde street and returning to the site of the proposed memorial. Joe Mora will be grand marshal.

Arriving at the site there will be music by the band, followed by an invocation by Rev. F. G. Williams. The chairman of the day, Dr. C. A. McCollom, will then present the orator of the day. Following singing by the school children, led by Thomas Vincent Cator, the cornerstone of the memorial will be laid by Col. J. V. Jenkins, assisted by J. P. Prior, Commander of the Peninsula American Legion Post.

The formal proceedings will close with prayer by Rev. R. M. Mestres and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." Then the service men and soldiers will be escorted to the Country Club grounds where luncheon will be prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Alice Josselyn.

The committee in charge requests that all business places be closed, and that Ocean Avenue store fronts be decorated with the national colors.

During the ceremonies, when the church bells ring at 12 o'clock, everyone is requested to remain silent and inactive for two minutes in honor of the unknown American soldier to be buried at Arlington Cemetery in Washington.

In the evening two vaudeville shows will be given to raise funds to meet the expenses of erecting the memorial. Details will be given in next week's paper.

Monte Carlo Picture Soon to be Shown

It is just about a year ago, or perhaps it was a little later, that the filming of Von Stroheim's "Foolish Wives," in which many local people took part, was in progress at Point Carmel. Now it is announced that after many trials and tribulations, deaths in the cast, financial difficulties, the pictures will be released on January 1st. Carl Laemmle, master producer, says: "It will be the largest motion picture production ever shown. In its present state the complete picture consists of thirty-three reels and requires eighty hours to run on the screen. This will be cut down to about fourteen reels before being shown to the public."

Ocean Av. Improvements

Although the winter months are almost here, building, at least on Ocean Avenue, continues. Leonard Perry's new office with its rich front of chalkrock veneering is progressing rapidly. Mr. Perry is also planning to build soon on his property just east of J. W. Hand's. The Hogle and Basham buildings have been connected and each is receiving a finish of stucco, which gives a greater effect of width to both properties. Mr. Hogle also added to his quarters on the east side a new private office.

Pine Needles

Miss Gwinn Worden is delighted with her completed home in old Carmel.

A total of eighteen voters registered on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, so as to be eligible to take part in the bond election.

Mrs. Argyle Campbell and two sons went to San Jose last week. They will probably be away for several weeks.

Fred Ashlev, San Francisco architect, was down last week for a few days. He notes particularly the growth of Carmel.

E. E. Vincent, for nearly a year a valued employee of the Pine Cone, has quit his job. He is now visiting his sister in Portland, Oregon.

There are here for an indefinite stay Miss Moore White and two friends from Vancouver, B. C. They have a cottage on Camino Real.

As soon as she is well enough to travel, Mrs. V. Mott Porter will return to Carmel. She is present in Santa Barbara with her daughter and mother.

The Misses Clara and Ella Kellogg have returned from San Francisco, where they went to see their brother A. L. Kellogg and family sail for South America.

Miss Elizabeth Tompkins, in her beautiful home at the Highlands, is just now having as her guest her sister, Juliet Wilbur Tompkins, the widely known novelist.

Dr. D. E. Nash, of San Jose, is a recent convert to the beauties of Carmel. He has purchased property extending from San Antonio to Scenic in the vicinity of 10th Street.

Mr. Karl Forsythe Kennedy, of San Jose, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas V. Cator. Mr. Kennedy is a former Stanford man and well-known football player.

Mrs. A. R. Waybur is sojourning at Woodland, but will return to Carmel shortly.

Mrs. Chauncey Martin and Miss Ellen Craig have taken a house on Camino Real for a few weeks. Mrs. Martin comes from Del Monte.

Miss Mossie Hunkins' mother, Mrs. S. B. Hunkins, has been making an extended visit in Los Angeles but is back enjoying the bracing air of Carmel once more.

Mr. and Mrs. Detlef Sammann and their daughter Miss Kate Sammann of Pebble Beach are living in Dresden, Germany, and have as a guest Miss Elsa Meinhardt, also a former resident of the Pebble Beach colony.

Mrs. Mabelle Lord Frost, Secretary of West Coast Arts, and Miss Annie Gayne Peake, President of Laguna Beach Community Club, are staying in Carmel. Both ladies are part owners of the "Laguna Life" Weekly.

Cornelius Botke of Carmel recently received a fifty-dollar check for an exhibit of professional painting at the Sacramento State Fair. Other prizes were also awarded to De Neale Morgan and William Silva, both of our local colony.

Mr. E. Roy Nash, formerly with a large wholesale house in San Francisco, paid a recent visit to the Pine Cone Office. Mr. Nash has bought an interest in the Noggle Electrical Works of Monterey and gives every evidence of being a "live wire".

Mrs. Phil K. Gordon was the charming hostess at a very enjoyable dinner dance on Wednesday of last week at La Playa Rancho. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Argyle Campbell, Mr. Leonard W. Perry and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Overstreet.

Harrison Godwin's mother, Mrs. H. G. Mueth and his brother, Frederick Godwin, arrived in Carmel from Canada some days ago. Mr. Godwin intends to assist his aunt, Mrs. Signor, with the management of La Playa Hotel and Rancho. He comes well equipped for such work, having had similar experience in Canada.

To Hurry Work on Coast Highway

A movement which has for its purpose the rapid building of the Coast Highway from Carmel to San Simeon was inaugurated at a meeting last Saturday at Del Monte. Business men of Carmel, Santa Cruz, Monterey and San Luis Obispo were present. Bonds to the amount of $1,500,000 have been voted to complete the highway which will form the most impressive link in the state highway, connecting San Francisco with southern California, and work upon the first unit which was let under contract some weeks ago will, within the next ten days be started.

The plans of the State Highway Commission contemplate the completion of the work in 1924, and it was to urge and work for an earlier completion that the meeting was held. Plans and specifications are now being prepared for the taking of bids upon the second unit of the work. Because of the increasing number of unemployed laborers it was pointed out that this situation could be eased by rushing the entire job at the present time. This conforms with the ideas and recommendations of Governor Stephens.

The Marionette Show

By JEANNE BURTON

Carmel is fortunate in that it can attract real people—real things. Carmel was more than usually fortunate when it drew to itself the Vagabond Marionettes.

The Vagabond Marionettes gave their show in the Manzanita Hall last Friday night. It was a unique performance—simple, spirited, humorous, sincere. It had its musical moments—its moments of delicate beauty—moments even of terror and mystery. The play was made for children; conceived with the true child spirit; executed with deftness and artistry. What more can you ask? It succeeded with the children; it succeeded with the grown-ups. I dare wager that if Gordon Craig, the Chief Prophet in the Marionette world had been there to see, it would have succeeded with him too. Moreover it brought us all again in touch with the beginnings of things—the fundamental primitive expression of art and human nature.

Marionette history goes back beyond counted time—to the beginning of the world. Puppets are found in the past of every great race, dead or alive. Ancient India had them; Egypt had them, Persia, Greece, Rome, China, Japan. Religion used them, Art used them. Gentile has always been attracted to them—the names of the great people who have played with them, who have written about them, are legion. The puppets belong to the whole world, ancient and modern. Their lure is universal. No wonder we were charmed last Friday night—drawn into a magic circle larger than we knew.

People will not long refer to Ocean Avenue as "The Permanent Wave," if the city trustees stick to their resolution to hurry the work of putting down a new pavement. Whatever the type of pavement, let's have it quickly.

The Board of Trustees held an adjourned regular meeting Tuesday night, and the following letter from City Engineer Henry Fisher was read:

Board of Trustees,
Carmel-by-the-Sea, Calif.
Gentlemen:

The agreement of Mr. Miller does not state the thickness of concrete in place, and I do not know enough about the sand at San Jose Creek to answer the question as to the advisability of using it for the fine aggregate.

If, as I recollect, the sand ranges from about 1/4 inch down to very fine sand, then with the right proportion of crushed rock, one would have a mixture a little better than 1-2-4, which was the mix that I deemed advisable for an unsurfaced concrete road.

Very truly yours,
HENRY B. FISHER.

It was decided to request Mr. Fisher's immediate presence in Carmel for the purpose of investigating the quality of the material suggested by Contractor Miller. Mr. Fisher is expected here by the end of this week and should have a report ready by the next meeting of the Board.

A letter from Hugh Osburn relating to the suit of Dammage, Frazer, et al. vs. the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, was read, stating that after investigation at Salinas, it was his opinion that the plaintiffs in the case had no grounds for action against the City Trustees or Marshal of Carmel for costs of suit. The City Clerk was directed to write H. G. Jorgensen, attorney for plaintiff, giving Mr. Osburn's opinion.

Trustee G. M. Dorwart brought up the matter of increasing the compensation of Mr. Smith, the garbage man, from $20 to $25. Action was taken to that effect. It was also stated that some of the residents do not take kindly to Mr. Smith's sug-

ITEMS OF INTEREST

An interesting part of the San Carlos Day celebration at Carmel Mission on Friday, November 7th, will be the singing of St. Basil's Mass. San Carlos Day is always an interesting event, and those who like to delve into history will find much to acquaint them with the Duke of Milan of the 15th Century, and his connection with Carmel Mission.

Captain L. T. Ward and his wife are visiting Mrs. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hand, and will be here for some time. Captain Ward is from New York; where he is the manager of a large shipping firm. He states that all business conditions in the Eastern Metropolis are flat and strongly contrasted with the better conditions of the Pacific Coast. Captain Ward served as commander of a transport during the war, is a born Californian, and is glad to get back to the coast, if only for a visit.

ART NOTES

"Painting pictures in China and Siberia is interesting work in these days," says Leon Gaspard, artist of note, who, with his wife, reached San Francisco from Hongkong recently. "I am glad to be back in the United States again, where the food has a real taste and the money has a real feel."

Gaspard and his wife are returning to their home in Taos, N. M., where they are members of a well-known artist colony. Their pueblo in that city is one of the most elaborate there and is a rendezvous for their artist friends.

Gaspard's paintings of landscapes are on exhibition in several eastern cities, where they have created much favorable comment.

Anthony Anderson in the Los Angeles Times says of William Ritschel's late painting, "Moonlight, Morro":

"It is the best moonlight scene that had come to my notice for many a day—or blue moon—and this superb painter of the sea has almost outdone himself, though here we have a placid bay seen through a framing of slim trees. The morbidezza of night is not easy to get; it is, in fact, the hardest thing in the world to put into paint—but Ritschel has done it."

Edgar M. Keller, a native Californian, is now a New York artist. In his boyhood days he was the best "drawer" in the public schools of his native state. He went from his old home town, Crescent City, to Portland, Ore., where he studied art seriously, and subsequently went to Seattle and spent three years, and then lived in San Francisco for ten years.

His interest in art continued during all this time, and he finally cast in his lot as a painter, and has passed through a free-lancing career, during which he has been an illustrator, a cover designer, a poster artist, a silhouette artist, and at last an all-round artist, in oil, water colors and pastel. He has also dabbled in modeling.

Out of such a varied experience, versatility arose and gave him the technique that is now his stock in trade.

The Duke of Westminster has consented to sell Gainsborough's most famous masterpiece, "The Blue Boy," together with Joshua Reynolds' "The Tragic Muse," to Sir Joseph Duveen, widely-known art connoisseur and dealer of New York and London, for £200,000 ($780,000). This is considered the most important transactions from the points of view of intrinsic beauty, historical association and amount of money involved, ever accomplished in the British art world.

British art critics and others are mystified as to why the Duke should have consented to part with the most priceless specimens of his collection. He is regarded as the wealthiest peer in Great Britain. The subject must remain a matter for speculation, for when the news of the sale of the paintings became known the Duke refused to make any comment.

The West has surpassed the East in the production of true American art, according to Professor P. W. Nahl, an authority on artistic expression and a member of the art department in the University of California.

"The Eastern States are losing their artistic prestige," said Professor Nahl. "Boston, which stood on the very pinnacle of thought and culture, is apparently giving way to the less conservative genius of the Western artists."

"Pure American art is now found only in the West. Combining the coloring and technique of the European masters with the striking intensity of the Orient, this art is original and distinct from Eastern painting, which is but an imitation of the French and German."

"Because of our close proximity to the Far East, Western art has absorbed the qualities of the Japanese paintings."

"But in addition to drawing from other masterpieces, we in the West have given something to them. This element is intangible and vague, but it is there, and will soon assert itself. It is American, the only true American art."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY
OCTOBER 27, 1921

ENGLISH TONGUE DOMINANT

Heretofore, French has been the language of diplomacy, and, therefore, it has been the first foreign language taught in the schools of all nations. As a result of the world war, however, a change has taken place. Much of the treaty of Versailles was written first in English and then translated into French. Recognizing the fact that English is becoming the language of diplomacy, as well as of commerce, the Danish and Swedish governments have substituted that language for French as the first foreign tongue to be taught in public schools. Undoubtedly other nations will pursue a similar course, with the certain result that English will become the one world-wide language. It might be well, therefore, for our own public schools to give a little more attention to it. Too many people murder the English language.

ASK THEM TO TEA

Don Marquis, who has his own way of getting an opinion "across", says in the New York Evening Sun:

"The Japanese question is no question at all, if it is approached in the proper conciliatory spirit; the solution consists entirely in avoiding anything that may injure the sensibilities of this proud and sensitive people. All they wish to do is to expand. It is very simple. Some one must give them room in which to expand and continue to give them room. Why not America? What happens to America in the process, socially, politically, racially, economically, is always of minor importance. We hope that we are not so old-fashioned as to urge that it makes any different what happens to America. If we gave a thought to what might happen to America we fear we might be called illiberal, reactionary, prejudiced."

DON'T TREAT 'EM ROUGH

Operating on the American plan, the mines of the United States Fuel Company, Salt Lake City, have had no labor troubles, according to M. Reiner, vice president and general manager of the company.

"We treat our men properly," said Mr. Reiner. "We discriminate against no man, whether he belongs to a union or not. The question of union membership enters into the question of employment no more than does the man's religious belief. Our men are contented and efficient, and we have had no strikes, lockouts or labor troubles since we established the American plan."

T. R.

Today is his birthday. Although it is nearly three years since Theodore Roosevelt passed away, the fact that these two initials serve instantly to identify him wherever they are mentioned is typical of the regard in which his memory is held by his fellow Americans. Not only in the schools, churches and other meeting places in the United States will his virtues be celebrated, but in many foreign lands there will be gatherings to honor the memory of this great American.

If "Observer" will leave his name at the this office, his letter will be published. The Pine Cone does not publish anonymous contributions, but will withhold the name of the writer provided the name is made known to the publisher.

BOOKS AND AUTHORS

J. Allen Dunn is an author with a punch in both fists; his career has developed it. He left his native England to serve as a correspondent in the Spanish American war. Later he was syndicate correspondent in California, Hawaii and the Orient. In 1907 he was editor of the Sunset Magazine. He is the author of "Yosemite Legends," "California for the Tourist," "California for the Sportsman," "Care-Free San Francisco" and in fiction, "Rotorua Rex," "The Petals of Lao Tsze," "Jim Morse, South Sea Trader," "Turquoise Canyon," "Dead Man's Gold," "Sandy Rourke" and "Salt of the Sea." His latest and most popular story is "A Man to His Mate." As a tale of the sea, it will rank with the best of Jack London's in that line.

Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, in the preface of her book, "My Brother, Theodore Roosevelt," says, in part:

"This book is, I hope, a clear picture, drawn at close hand by one who, because of her relationship to him and her intercourse with him, knew his loyalty and tenderness of heart in a rare and satisfying way, and had unusual opportunity of comprehending the point of view, and therefore perhaps of clarifying the point of view, of one of the great Americans of the day."

After all, there were some merits in the Dime Novel. It has certain advantages over the present novel, and who knows but that History will again repeat itself, and the old "penny dreadful" may come into its own once more?

All in all, however, the only thing about the dime novel that was as bad as it was painted was the cover. Most of us remember much that was pleasant about the old "paper cover" that flourished in the '80s and '90s. Under Diamond Dick we gang-fought all sorts of thugs and bad men; with Old King Brady we detected the bank robber with our detectors hitting on all six; we rode with Buffalo Bill as he put the Indian sign on Indians, that were at least supposed to be bad. Sometimes it was rough stuff, but at that it was rarely that more than one throat a day was cut or more than a pint of gore left clinging to the deftly removed scalp. We remember that in the end Virtue (spelled with a capital V, please) always triumphed and that honesty, if not the best policy, didn't do anybody any harm. The much abused dime novel, it will have to be said, tended the young shoots of the imagination in many a creaky woodshed loft and in many a sheltered spot behind the cedar fence.

As we remember the dime novel, we are unable to recall one bed-room scene, one neglected wife, one young heroine sobbing in her pink boudoir because she is not understood, one nasty sex problem. Which may lead some of us to think that the dime novel had nothing to fear in comparison with the $2 novel.

Adriana Spadoni is always enthusiastic about California and more particularly San Francisco. However, she claims Carmel-by-the-Sea as her home. Her two novels "Swing of the Pendulum" and "Noise of the World" have been among the recent best sellers, and her admirers are hoping for another one soon.

Miss Spadoni has written short stories for years. The October number of Century contains her latest story, "Cecei remains". Miss Spadoni expresses herself as being happiest when she is "conceiving, not writing, great novels, trout fishing, breaking one camp to go to the next, and cooking on winter nights with the rain lashing the bungalow roof."

The Guild of All Saints' Church will give a tea at the Rectory on Wednesday afternoon, November 2, in honor of Mrs. William C. Watts, who is soon to leave for an extended trip in the Orient. All of Mrs. Watts' many friends here are cordially invited.

Mrs. R. C. Humber, of Santa Cruz, was a week end visitor here with a party of friends, which included Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Miller of Shanghai, China, and Miss Helen Tillotson and Miss Mabel Parish of Salinas.

From Chicago have come Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Vernon to take a cottage here until December 1. Because of the delightful fall and winter climate here, they will be reluctant to return to the shores of Lake Michigan.

Ocean Avenue is losing its bookshop, at least temporarily. Herbert Heron has decided to turn his home into a studio until such time as he can find a permanent location. Anyway, the books are going and the downtown home of the "literati" is no more.

Howard Fresca, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Ernest Wilkins, entertained friends at dinner at the Carmel Highlands Inn recently. After a long motor ride down the coast, with lunch at Rainbow Lodge, the party stopped at the Inn for a specially ordered dinner.

In order to get the necessary elevation in which to connect with the sewer on Ocean Avenue, the site of the Country Club building has been moved north about twenty feet. The new site was staked out by architect Charles S. Greene, Noah Whitney, chairman of the building committee and Dr. A. E. Burton, of the board of directors.

Plans are rapidly being perfected at the headquarters of the California Tuberculosis Association for the Annual Christmas Seal Sale. Since California had its first organized sale in 1914, when a million seals were sold, the sale has rapidly increased until last year twenty million were sold. They will soon be on sale in Carmel.

RED CROSS RESCUED
600,000 FROM DEATHSpent $1,200,000 for Relief of
Famine Sufferers in China
Last Year.

To help overcome conditions of acute distress in five famine stricken provinces of Northern China, where millions of persons were affected by an unprecedented shortage of food, the American Red Cross during the last fiscal year spent more than $1,200,000, $1,000,000 of which was contributed directly by National Headquarters and the remainder by various groups interested in the welfare of China.

Through the wide relief operations thus made possible it is estimated that more than 600,000 famine sufferers were saved from starvation.

To the end that similar prompt relief measures by the organization may always be possible the Red Cross is asking continued support by the American people by universal renewal of membership at the Annual Red Cross Roll Call, November 11 to 21.

The method of relief employed by the American Red Cross in its operations in China was particularly effective, for in addition to saving hundreds of thousands of lives it provided China with more than 900 miles of permanent roads that are sorely needed to prevent a recurrence of famine. At one time the Red Cross employed 74,000 Chinese workmen, paying them in food for themselves and dependents, this food being brought in from Manchuria and elsewhere.
